In UCI's Humanities Core Course, our freshmen receive an introduction to several areas of study that represent "the humanities" as they perfect their writing skills. As part of a unit on literary journalism, students conduct an interview that they then incorporate into a story or an essay. This writing is sometimes some of the most powerful prose that our students produce and often helps shape our understanding of the humanities. With your permission we would like to feature student writing based upon your interview on our course website, share this writing in academic publications, or preserve it in our course and library collections. We are very grateful to you for agreeing to this interview and ask that you complete the following form.

Dr. Carol Burke, Director
